

MFJ-260 DUMMY LOAD

The MFJ-260 Dummy load is a dry, air cooled, resistive dummy load. This resistor load is capable of dissipating RF power without the bulk or mess of oil or other coolants. It is capable of handling up to 300 Watts for a short period of time. For added convenience a derating curve is shown below and on the end plate of the dummy load.

Operation

1. Become familiar with the duty cycle derating curve so that over-heating of the resistor is avoided.
2. Connect the transmitter or amplifier to the input of the dummy load with a PL-259 connector.

NOTE: Do not let the dummy load resistor get hot enough to glow red. If the dummy load resistor starts to glow red, turn off the transmitter immediately and allow the dummy load to cool down before touching it.
